UNITED NATIONS INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT ORGANIZATION

National Cleaner Production Centres are set up with the support of existing local institutions to deliver:

- Awareness-raising on the benefits of CP;
- Training of experts on CP and related issues;
- Technical assistance to companies;
- Assistance in development of investment projects:
- Policy advice to national and local governments

Cleaner Production ⇒ efficient use of resources (water, energy, raw materials) to allow cost reduction and productivity increase

Chemical leasing combined with CP further increases environmental and economic benefits through the involvement of additional stakeholders of the production / supply chain

UNIDO's activities on Chemical leasing

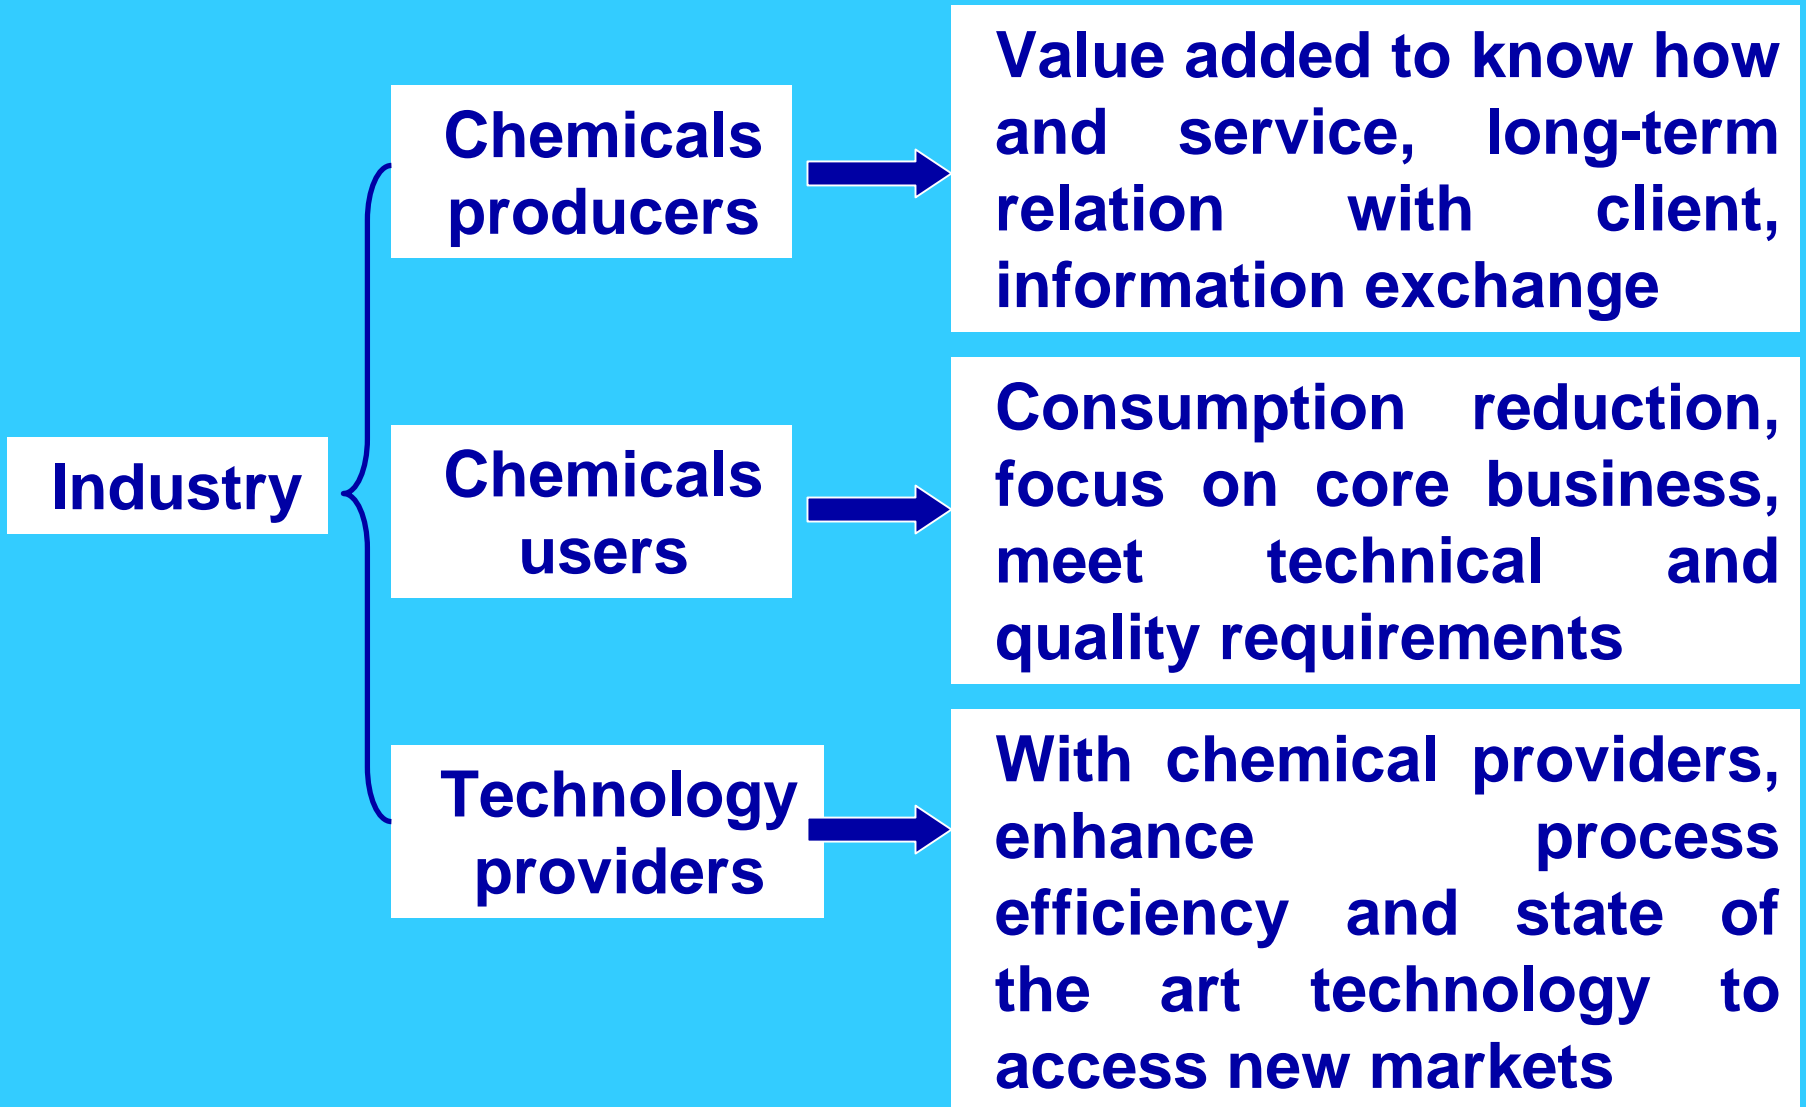

Implementation of demonstration and training projects in cooperation with three NCPCs (Egypt, Mexico and Russia – St. Petersburg).

During first year of project: 20 companies involved

Need of quality assurance

Set-up international multi-stakeholder working group, with representatives of: industries, consultants, governments, quality assurance institutions, UNIDO

Actors of Chemical leasing and their interest (1)

Actors of Chemical leasing and their interest (2)

Government

Win-win policy tool for risk management and extended producer responsibility

Quality assurance institutions

Build confidence and smooth relations among companies, added value for other parties by independent validation

UNIDO

Role of UNIDO in Chemical leasing

Promote Cleaner Production and Chemical leasing through its global network of National Cleaner Production Centres and Programmes

Develop tools for the implementation of Chemical leasing business models in SMEs, adapted to developing countries and countries with economies in transition

Independent facilitator among the different actors to ensure relations based on mutual trust and proper benefits' share
