I. Background

The Istanbul Programme of Action (IPoA) adopted at the Fourth UN Conference on LDCs in Istanbul, Turkey in May 2011, constitutes an ambitious agenda by the international community with the overarching goal to overcome the structural challenges faced by the LDCs in order to eradicate poverty, achieve internationally agreed development goals and enable graduation from the LDC category. These approaches are mainstreamed in UNIDO's vision and mandate (Budget doc., MTPF, etc.). Moreover, following the adoption of the IPoA and upon request from the Executive Board dated 29 June 2011, UNIDO developed an LDC Operational Strategy for the period 2012-2020 to provide a framework for UNIDO interventions in LDCs.

The Lima Declaration was adopted at the 2013 LDC Ministerial Conference and was further endorsed at the fifteenth UNIDO General Conference within the context of the post-2015 development agenda in order to address challenges faced by its Member States. It established the foundation for a new vision/tool, namely Inclusive and Sustainable Industrial Development (ISID) and highlighted the crucial role of industrialization as a driver for development. While industrialization was not factored in the framework of the Millennium Development Goals, ISID now features strongly the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. Indeed, the UN summit on Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) has confirmed as Goal-9 to Build resilient infrastructure, promote inclusive and sustainable industrialization and foster innovation. This sanctions the provisions of the Lima Declaration and the relevance of ISID for the new global development architecture. As such, operationalizing ISID for LDCs will directly contribute to achieving some of the main goals set by the IPoA and anchor UNIDO at the forefront of the 2030 Agenda for suitable development.

Thus, the sixth edition of UNIDO's LDC ministerial conference will be held from 26 to 27 November 2015 and will take place at a defining moment in the history of global development cooperation. The meeting will aim at giving visibility and an extensive understanding to both, national stakeholders and policy makers on the importance to implement and mainstream ISID into national development policies, programmes and budget.

Furthermore, the 2015 LDC Ministerial Conference will be entirely organized in close collaboration with the Office of the High Representative for LDCs, LLDCs and SIDS (OHRLLS). It is also foreseen that other UN organizations (e.g. UNCTAD, ITC, and ILO) will collaborate in organizing specific sessions to take place in parallel to the Conference.

The Ministerial meeting aims to bring together over 250 participants including LDC ministers, specific UN agencies, regional economic communities, diverse institutions, donors and private sector entities in order to discuss the most optimal path to capitalize innovative ways to sustain structural change and graduation. During the different sessions it is foreseen to have an overview of the IPoA implementation process and to reflect on how ISID can be an implementing tool, particularly in the context of the SDGs with special attention on SDG-9. In addition, sessions on the path to graduation and the direct correlation with industrialization and the mainstreaming of ISID into national policies will be held. The determinant role of partnership development and collaboration with regional initiatives will also be discussed to in order to address questions of sustainability and elaborate ways forward as well as financing solutions for LDCs development post-2015 era. Gender equality and balance will also be highlighted and debated in all sessions as considered being cross-cutting issues and crucial topics. Indeed, UNIDO recognizes that gender equality and the empowerment of women have significant positive impacts on sustained economic growth and inclusive sustainable industrial development, which are considered as drivers of poverty reduction and social integration. Furthermore, a careful attention will be given to ensure gender balance and geographical diversity in Panels representation for the respective sessions of the conference.

Finally, the international community set an ambitious agenda to build on MDGs and past experiences, which constitutes the strategic frame for development approaches in the post-2015 era. In order to ensure the successful implementation and operationalization of ISID and the new SDGs, innovative financial schemes must also be set in motion. The business model does not need to be reinvented, but rather evolve in adequacy with the needs to achieve the targeted goals. Development Financial Institutions (DFIs), as for instance the World Bank or the Islamic Development Bank have anticipated this structural need by creating finance corporations directly attached to them. The conference will be a timely opportunity to offer a platform of discussions on this matter and introduce innovative business models and funds mobilization strategies that will be determinant for a successful implementation of the international agenda.

II. Objective of the Conference

As the international community has endorsed an ambitious and universal 2030 agenda for sustainable development in September 2015, the Ministerial Meeting will take place at a defining moment in the history of global development cooperation. UNIDO's Ministerial meeting is uniquely positioned to create an opportunity for LDCs and their development partners to embark in an open dialogue to find a common understanding of how ISID can better integrate key priorities, goals and targets as set in the IPoA and ensures that it reflects LDCs financing needs and graduation endeavors. The conference should also be a very good transition platform from the United Nations Summit in September 2015 towards the IPoA mid-term review in June 2016 and lays the basis of future debates and discussions.

The Conference will also be the opportunity to further showcase the relevance of ISID as a major tool to assist LDCs in their path to graduation. Finally, the meeting will be a timely opportunity to assess and build upon UNIDO's contributions to the implementation of the IPoA and to underline how ISID constitutes a customized implementing instrument for SDG-9.

The Conference will specifically establish linkages between ISID the IPoA and the SDG-9, in particular:

- Define the critical role of ISID in the path to graduation;
- Explore effective ways to mainstream ISID in national economic policies;
- Illustrate the critical role of partnership development and regional integration in achieving a smooth graduation process;
- Explore possible means of implementation within the 2030 agenda for sustainable development with special focus on industrialization. The conference will also explore and identify innovative funding opportunities for LDCs.

III. Approach

1. Coordination system and advisory support: The 2015 UNIDO LDC Ministerial Conference will be organized in close collaboration with the Office of the High Representative for LDCs, LLDCs and SIDS (OHRLLS). It is foreseen that other UN organizations (e.g. UNDP, WTO, ITC) will collaborate in organizing/participating in specific sessions of the Conference at the highest level. Substantive sessions will be chaired by participating Ministers and internationally renowned persons as well as High-level representatives from international institutions, academia, NGOs, etc. Some sessions will feature presentations as well as short introductions presented by UNIDO and technical experts from other organizations on respective topics and issues. Interactive discussions will focus on concrete examples and best practices.
2. Format of the conference: The conference will be held in Vienna, Austria on 26-27 November 2015, prior to the 16th edition of UNIDO's General Conference. It will consist of both, plenary (session 1 and 6) and proactive sessions/panels (sessions 2 to 5).
3. Gender equality:

A careful attention is given to ensure gender balance and geographical diversity in Panels representation for the respective sessions of the conference. Gender equality and balance will also be highlighted and debated as cross-cutting issue in all sessions. In this context UNIDO recognizes gender equality and the empowerment of women to have significant positive impacts on sustained economic growth and sustainable industrial development, which are considered as drivers of poverty reduction and social integration. In addition, UNIDO also considers gender mainstreaming as a key strategy for achieving gender equality and the empowerment of women. As a result, the Organization has created a gender-oriented policy.

4. Side events and other:
 - a) Side event in the form of a Lunch offered by UNIDO DG for Ministers and High level representatives (topic to be determined);
 - b) Using the momentum of the Conference and capitalizing on the presence of 48 LDCs and their government and private sector representatives, UNIDO plans to organize a business cocktail in the evening of 26 November 2015 to enable all actors to liaise and build win-win collaborations with their peers from Asia, Africa, Arab countries, Europe and Latin America. The cocktail will provide a venue for mutually beneficial business-to-business (B2B) and business-to-government (B2G) exchange. On the following day UNIDO will provide space/assistance for face-to-face meetings on the sidelines of the Conference. An exhibition area will also be reserved in the Rotunda of the Vienna International Center for stakeholders to showcase their products;
 - c) Study tour on site visit (industrial zone, agro pole in the surroundings of Vienna);
 - d) Exhibitions showcasing best practices, projects and programmes geared to successful graduation (for both, countries and International Organizations);
 - e) Official launch of the Inclusive Development and Entrepreneurship for All (IDEA) programme.

IV. Expected outcomes

The conference will result in concrete measures/actions, including pledges and commitments from stakeholders:

1. ISID/ SDG-9 are confirmed as a key driver for the path to graduation;
2. Effective and innovative multi-partner schemes to implement ISID as relevant for tool the IPoA in context of the 2030 Agenda for sustainable development is agreed upon and endorsed. Such as the setting up of industrial development cooperation for LDCs attached to UNIDO with a specific/different legal framework;
3. Best practices have been discussed and successfully exchanged among participants and concrete cooperation and partnerships are established;
4. Ministerial declaration encapsulating the above vetted by MS and endorsed by the GC.
