

UNITED NATIONS INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT ORGANIZATION

Workshop on Modernization of Production and Services in Industrial Statistics

14 – 16 November 2016

Information for Participants

UNIDO Headquarters
Vienna International Centre, Austria

1. Background

UNIDO Statistics produces the high quality statistics that are accurate and relevant to the overall mandate of the Organization in industrial development. The role of statistics is indispensable in strategic research and policy advice programme of UNIDO. In recent years, UNIDO Statistics has significantly expanded its activities in terms of the coverage and frequency of data production.

UNIDO is publishing statistics on mining and quarrying, electricity, gas and water supply.

The International Yearbook of Industrial Statistics, the main statistical product of UNIDO, which has been the most important medium for data dissemination for many years, was published in its 20th edition two years ago. The Yearbook provides an overview of the world manufacturing trends in recent years. In the past 20 years since the first issue of the Yearbook a lot has changed both in industry and in the way we collect and process data about the industry. The International Standard Industrial Classification (ISIC) is already in its 4th revision and more than 60 countries already report in this 4th revision of ISIC.

In the next 20 years we do not know how industry and technology will change and what the user requirements for statistical data will be. But we know that the data produced by UNIDO must be relevant, and of high quality to serve in planning scenarios, making decisions, developing strategies. In order to remain the foremost source of data in industrial statistics, which is the fundamental mission of UNIDO statistics, it is necessary to know the needs and visions of both data users and partner-data producers.

With the proposed event we want not only to commemorate the past success of UNIDO in maintaining relevant statistical data but also to bring together policymakers, academics, students, statisticians from National statistical offices and international agencies, to expand their knowledge on the statistical business process of UNIDO statistics and the plans for development of new and modernized statistical products.

2. Objectives

The objective of the workshop is to enhance the relevance, quality and visibility of the UNIDO statistical products both among its data users and partners/data producers. It will also enhance the interrelation with the national statistical offices and will extend the TA and capacity building activities of UNIDO in the area of industrial statistics.

3. Organization

The Workshop is organized by UNIDO Statistics Division (PPS/PRS/STA).

Representatives from about 25 national statistical institutions and international organizations are invited to attend the workshop.
