Major Achievements and Expertise

- A senior economic and financial policy-maker. As the Vice Finance Minister and a member of the Monetary Policy Committee of the central bank for a decade, Mr. Li has been involved extensively in setting and harmonizing fiscal, monetary and industrial policies, supporting sound economic growth in China. Since 2003, he has firmly pushed forward financial sector reform, particularly prompted major financial institutions to establish corporate governance, deal with toxic assets and strengthen risk management, all of which are critical for avoiding potential systemic risks in China's financial system.
- A strong advocate for inclusive growth. Mr. Li carries poverty alleviation on his shoulders and has given great importance to the fiscal and financial measures in favour of agricultural development and small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), the two cornerstones for creating economic opportunities and reducing poverty. Under his stewardship, a wide range of preferential policies to promote microfinance, agricultural insurance and rural finance, etc., have been introduced. These policies have helped the disadvantaged groups, especially 5 million Chinese women to be better employed, and also provided the rural areas as well as SMEs better access to financial services. In addition, Mr. Li initiated and established the China Agricultural Development Fund, with the mandate to direct both public and private financial resources to agricultural businesses nationwide.
- An active participant in international development. With constant commitment since the 1980s, Mr. Li has played a key role in China's cooperation with multilateral development organizations, such as the World Bank Group and the Asian Development Bank (ADB). He calls upon the international community for more equal partnership, stronger financial support and lower aid costs for developing countries, particularly the least developed countries. To enhance representation of the developing world, Mr. Li dedicated himself to governance reform of international development organizations and successfully raised the voting rights of developing countries at the World Bank by 3.13 per cent, to a total of 47.19 per cent. He also advanced the United Nations contribution-assessment reform when he served as Member of the United Nations Committee on Contributions.
- An experienced financier for development agenda. As a major decision-maker on government budget, Mr. Li has been committed to promoting China's contribution to international development, including contributions to such funds as the International Development Association (IDA), the Asian Development Fund (ADF), the African Development Fund, UNIDO, the Global Environment Facility (GEF), the China-ASEAN Center, as well as the PRC Poverty Reduction and Regional Cooperation Fund in the ADB. He also contributed significantly to the successful completion of the general capital increase both at the World Bank and the ADB. With strong expertise in global capital market, he has led a number of global issuances of China's sovereign bond and four major RMB sovereign bond issuances in Hong Kong market. He also played a major role in the decision-making of issuing Panda Bonds by the International Finance Corporation (IFC) and the ADB for the first time in China. With his renowned prestige and rich experience in international development financing, Mr. Li maintains extensive and close relationships with development partners, including more than 20 donor countries.

- A champion of innovation and green development. Mr. Li has a strong passion for international initiatives on infrastructure financing, green growth and climate financing. Under his initiation and leadership, China has developed pioneering and fruitful cooperation with the World Bank, IFC, ADB, UNIDO and GEF in a host of projects concerning environmental protection, energy conservation, reliable energy supplies and sustainable industrial development. One of the prime examples in his endeavour to promote the use of GEF fund by UNIDO for the POPs-control project in China.
- An earnest facilitator for regional and “South-South” cooperation. Mr. Li plays an indispensable role in the ASEAN+3 financial cooperation process, implementing the Chiang Mai Initiative Multilateralization, building the ASEAN+3 Macroeconomic and Research Office (AMRO), promoting the development of the Asian Bond Market Initiative (ABMI), and establishing the Credit Guarantee and Investment Facility (CGIF). Meanwhile, he has been actively engaged in various regional cooperation mechanisms, including the Greater Mekong Subregion (GMS) cooperation and the Central Asia Regional Economic Cooperation (CAREC). He also firmly supports the South-South cooperation, exemplified by the tripartite partnership among China, the World Bank/ADB and other countries. At his initiation, a number of knowledge cooperation mechanisms have been established, such as China-Africa Experience Sharing Program and China-ADB Knowledge Sharing Platform, which are highly valued and appreciated by the beneficiary countries and development organizations.
- A dynamic coordinator of global economic policies. As the representative of the Chinese government, Mr. Li has played a constructive and balanced role in coordinating global economic policies and related extensive issues in the multilateral mechanisms including G7/G8, the G20, APEC, ASEM and ASEAN+3, and numerous high-level economic dialogues between China and the EU, Brazil, India, Japan, Russia, the UK and the US. As a member of the Financial Stability Board (FSB), Mr. Li has worked closely with his counterparts and relevant stakeholders both at home and abroad to promote prudent financial regulation, formulate policies to battle the global financial crisis, and restore growth of the world economy. He also made great efforts to encourage the World Bank and the IFC to expand trade financing, for the purpose of assisting developing countries in their efforts to enhance trade capacity and overcome the difficulties caused by the international financial turmoil.
