

PROGRAMME FOR COUNTRY PARTNERSHIP (PCP) PERU

Forming partnerships and mobilising resources for a modern, competitive and inclusive industry in Peru

Launched in mid-2014, UNIDO's Programme for Country Partnership (PCP) is an innovative partnership model for advancing inclusive and sustainable industrial development (ISID) at the country level.

The key features of PCPs are strong government ownership; alignment with the national industrialization strategies, targets and priorities within the country; a multi-stakeholder partnership from design until implementation and the mobilisation of joint broad-based investments. UNIDO's role is to facilitate overall coordination and provide technical assistance with a multidisciplinary team of experts.

Government ownership

Leadership comes from the highest political level, with commitment and coordination provided by all relevant partners through a national steering committee.

Joint broad based investments

The Partner and Donor Working Group (PDWG) will mobilise funds and establish new partnerships to foster ISID. This working group will be led by the Ministry of Production, Ministry of Economy and Finance and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. UNIDO will act as a technical advisor to the PDWG to create synergies with ongoing and planned programmes and develop new partnerships for greater development impact.

Meeting with Development Finance Institutions

Timeline

The first phase of the PCP Peru - the identification phase – began in December 2015, with the objective of discerning the developmental needs of Peru in terms of infrastructure, partnerships, strategies and policies. Meetings with diverse stakeholders led to the definition of strategic priorities for industrial development and UNIDO’s main areas of intervention.

PCP Peru Programme Components

During the identification phase, four components were defined for the programme with a view to foster a modern, competitive and inclusive industry in Peru.

Projects under each component are currently being developed together with national partners. For instance, in September 2016, to advance the ‘Quality and Innovation’ component, a 3-day quality workshop was organised with the National Institute for Quality and the results of an assesment of three Innovation & Technology Centres (CITEs) were presented in a separate workshop to foster innovation. Under the Sustainable Industrial Parks component an assessment of the master plan for a new industrial park in Ancón was carried out and a GEF-funded project on sustainable industrial zones is being developed in Callao.
