

Department of Policy Research and Statistics Virtual Event
UNIDO WEBINAR SERIES: Future of industrialization in a post-pandemic world

AGENDA

Industrial policy and the road to recovery

13 November 2020 | 14:00-15:00 GMT+1

Event page | Registration \(Zoom\) | Youtube Live

What does the future of industrial policy hold?

The recovery from the COVID-19 crisis will inevitably need to involve the active use of industrial policies. The precise policy instruments will have to be adapted to the new reality. However, while future industrial policies have to adapt to the post pandemic world, lesson learnt from past successful cases should not be forgotten. Successful industrialization is not simply about picking the right policy instruments and institutions, but also learning how to build, use and coordinate them in an effective way.

Join our online discussion to find out how national governments and the international community can join efforts to pave the road to recovery and build back better.

14:00 Opening remarks LI Yong, UNIDO, Director General

Alicia Bárcena, Executive Secretary of the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC)

Mariana Mazzucato, Professor in the Economics of Innovation and Public Value, Founding Director, Institute for Innovation and Public Purpose (IIPP), University College London (UCL)

Justin Yifu Lin, Professor and Dean of the Institute of New Structural Economics, Peking University

14:40 Q&A Session

This webinar is part of UNIDO's webinar series "Future of industrialization in a post-pandemic world," organized by the Policy Research and Statistics Department.

UNIDO's webinar series gathers leading thinkers and experts on the topic of industrialization to address the unprecedented challenges ahead of us, and share their knowledge and insights on the future of industrialization.